FAILURE OF E. C. STEDMAN & CO. CONFIDENCE RESTORED IN WALL STREET-THE VIEWS OF PROMINENT FINANCIERS.

Business in Wall street resumed almost its usual character yesterday. The excitement among the brokers has largely passed away and a general belief was expressed that all danger of a panic had disappeared, certainly for the time being. The stock market was less active than on Tuesday, and there was more steadiness of tone in the dealings. As a rule the market made an advance which left the general list higher than at the close the day before. Conservative bankers and brokers do not deny that further speculative changes may take place disturbing to those persons who are holding stocks and securities, and it is even admitted by some that further failures may possibly occur. But it is believed by many that any failures in the near future will be of small concerns whose suspension will not affect large interests.

Yesterday the only incident that caused comment in Wall Street was the suspension of Edmund C. Stedman & Co., bankers and brokers, doing business at No. 36 Broad-st. The failure, however, did not grow out of the recent decline in prices, and the comment excited by it was that of sympathy and regret. In the early afternoon the following letter was read from the rostrain of the Stock Exchange:

The copartnership heretotore existing between E. C. Stedman and F.S. Stedman, under the firm name of E. C. Stedman alone will sign is inquidation.

In addition to this notice, signed by the two partners, another was read from E. C. Stedman alone, essin Wall street resumed almost its

In addition to this notice, signed by the two part-ners, another was read from E. C. Stedman alone, as follows:

as follows:

While examining into affairs connected with the failure of Cecil, Ward & Co. and the extent of my own losses, direct and indirect, I am advised to suspend payment, and have accordingly made an assignment, in which my late partner has joined, to John McGinnis, ir., for the protection of the creditors of E. C. Stedman & Co., previously having fully met all colligations in the Stock Exchange and having closed all outstanding contracts.

ruly met all oulgations in the Stock Exchange and having closed all outstanding contracts.

The failure was caused by F. S. Stedman, the junior partner, having used securities belonging to the firm in speculations through Cecil, Ward & Co., the firm which suspended on Monday. These speculations had been conducted under fictitious names since last December. The elder Mr. Stedman was entirely ignorant of them. He has been abroad within this time, and during the summer has frequently been in the country. Whenever he made an examination of the securities held by the firm for their customers, those which had been placed by the junior partner with Cecil, Ward & Co. were temporarily returned. No suspicion of this state of affairs was entertained by the closer Mr. Stedman until Monlay, when the recent decline in stocks required him to furnish more margin for the protection of the stocks carried. by the elder Mr. Stedman until Monday, when the recent decline in stocks required him to furnish more margin for the protection of the stocks carried by the firm. Cecil, Ward & Co. having failed, the securities of E. C. Stedman & Co. waich had been placed with the former firm by F. S. Stedman, were not available. The amount taken from the latter firm was $41,000. E. C. Stedman closed out all the contracts of his firm in the Street on Tuesday at a loss of about $40,000, and then decided to make an assignment in order to prevent any possible legal complications with Cecil, Ward & Co., and provide for all his obligations to his clients.

possible legal complications with Cecil, Ward & Co., and provide for all his obligations to his clients.

On Tuesday many friends of E. C. Stedman, to whom his embarrassment was made known, offered pecuniary assistance. Among them were S. V. White, William E. Dodge, William Walter Phelps and others. The aid that could have been commanded by Mr. Stedman was fully $500.-000. He declined it, however, considering that the best method of protecting bis cheuts was to go into liquidation. The liabilities of E. C. Stedman & Co., including about $75,000 in loans amply secured by collateral, are about $150,000. The only preferences given in the assignment are to Mrs. Jennie E. Croly and Miss L. E. Perkins, each for $1,000, and to Mrs. Emma E. West for $2,000. Mr. Stedman's misfortune, coming as it did, through no fault of his own, was unversally deplored among the members of the Exchange. A prominent member said: "Mr. Stedman is a man of unquestioned integrity and be ought to stand hisher toan ever in the estimation of the public for his condact in this matter. He has met his misioriume like a man and it was no question of money that caused him to make the assignment." Assignce McGinnis, who is a member of the tim of McGinnis Brothers, Fearing & Walsh, said that he had no doubt that Mr. Stedman would be able finally to meet his obligations dollar for dollar.

There were no new developments with regard to the affairs of the tailed firm of George William Ballou & Co. yesterday. William H. Bingham, the Stock Exchange partner, said that it would yet be several days before any financial statement could be made for the firm. From the notices of the differences to be settled on the stocks bought and soid under the rules already received, be thought that the firm's habilities at the Stock Exchange would be smaller than had been expected. Confidence is still expressed in behalf of the firm that a settlement will be made in full. Such is not the beief in Wall Street, however, and it is intimated that soits will be begun against th "I think that all danger of a panic has gone. There are not likely to be any more big failures. Later on a few weak houses, already bankrupt, may formally announce the fact, but any further handation will probably proceed without violence." hadidation will probably proceed without violence."

A well-known Broadway bank president expressed his beliefs as follows: "All danger of a general collapse has probably passed, if there has been any. If the decline in stocks had come without warning there might have been trouble. But we have been liquidating for a year, and people have had time to prepare for the decline. Because of this there is reason to hope that disaster can be avoided. It is unfortunate that the recent flurry occurred at this time when the country needs quietness for all its resources in moving products. The cessation of speculative activity, however, will probably relieve astringency in money which might have come later on."

THE CASE OF S. ORVILLE HEATON.

THE CASE OF S. ORVILLE HEATON.

S. Orville Heaton, the Newark commission merchant who is charged with uttering forged commercial paner, has not been apprehended. Some of his friends say that he can be produced when necessary, and that he has temporarily withdrawn from his usual resorts only pending the arrangements in progress to pay off his indebtedness and to settle the criminal charges against him. It was stated yesterday that the charges would not be pressed in view of an expected settlement by Heaton's friends, although the affidavit made by John D. Vermilyez alleging forgery is in the hands of the Police Justice at the First Precinct Station, and a warrant has been served. The notes made by Heaton, with indorsements alleged to be forged, held by the Second National Bank, are said to have been discounted by a principal officer of the bank, and the loss will fall upon him. The amount is $2,700.

There is no denial of the fact, by Heaton's friends, that the indorsements on the paper sold by Heaton were forgeties, but regret is expressed by them that the matter could not be settled without publicity. The notes now held by Mr. Vermilyea and the Second National Bank officers represent only a portion of the paper negotiated by Heaton since his failure in business two years ago. Mr. Vermilyea the Second National Bank officers represent only a portion of the paper negotiated by Heaton since his failure in business two years ago. Mr. Vermilyea and the Second National Bank officers represent only a forter of the paper negotiated by Heaton since his failure in business two years ago. Mr. Vermilyea motes from Heaton, which were paid at maturity, and these payments, and the fact that Heaton obtained ready indorsement from responsible men, induced him recently to lend Heaton several hundred dollars on his individual note, which Mr. Vermilyea now holds.

THE TRICK PLAYED BY AN ACQUAINTANCE. Julius Schneitzler, an immigrant who has been boarding for a few days at No. 24 Greenwich-st., New-York, reported to the police of Jersey City that he was robbed on Tuesday right of $650 by a man whose acquaintance he made on the ship coming over from Germany. The man's name is Herman Tremborn. Schneitzler, who had been over to Germany to get money to have a farm, met Tremman Tremborn. Schneitzler, who had been over to Germany to get money to buy a farm, met Tremborn on the ship and they became warm friends. They both stayed at No. 24 Greenwich-st., and just before going to bed on Tuesday night Schneitzier, who carried his money in a belt around his waist, said that he was tree of carrying it there all the time and asked and received permission to put it in Tremborn's valise until morning. When Schneitzler woke up his friend, valise and money were gone. He has asked the police to keep watch of the outgoing steamers, as he believes Tremborn will try to return to Germany.

SUSPECTED OF ARSON.

Andrew Dougherty, an Irishman living about two miles out of Smithtown Branch, L. I., had a narrow escape from being burned to death early yesterday morning. He woke up about 3 o'clock and found the bed clothing which covered him on fire. Hastily jumping from the bed he discovered that part of the floor of his bed chamber was on fire and that a bundle of old clothing and paper saturated with kerosene oil was burning freely under his bedroom window. A colony of Germans live near Dougherty between some of whom and himself there has been for some time past had blood. On the complaint of Dougherty, William Loeber has been arrested on suspicion of setting fire to the house and will have an examination to-day.

CAPTURING A MONSTER SHARK.

"Have you heard about the shark which we caught in the harbor of Progresso on our last trip?" sate Captain E. M. Fawcett, of the steamship British Emptre, yeaterday. The reporter winked his weather eye, gave a hitch to his trousers and drawled out "No?" in a nautical style, to impress the captain that he was not a land-lubber, and was not to be sold by any fish story. The captain continued: "It's a fact and it was a big one. I won't say that it was the whale that swallowed Jonah, but when we took his jaws out they would more than go over my shoulders." As Captain Fawcett weighs over 200 pounds and is not above the medium beight, his shoulders are broad. "We were lying—that is, I mean the ship was at anchor—in the harbor of Progresso, and observing a shark around the vessel we cast our line and soon had him on board. He was nearly thirteen feet in length and when we cut him open we found sixty-eight young sharks inside of him. It's a fact!"

THE COST OF BUILDING A FLUME, MR. THOMPSON SHOWS THE DIFFICULTIES IN THE WAY OF MR. DOWD'S PLAN.

WAY OF MR. DOWD'S PLAN.

The greater portion of the time which the Aqueduct Commissioners devoted to the transaction of its business yearerday afternoon was passed in adopting its rules and by-laws. It was decided that hereafter a majority of the Commissioners should constitute a quorum, and that a stated meeting should be held every Wednesday at 3 p. m., at the rooms of the Commission in The Tribune building. In order to held a special meeting it will be necessary for all the Commissioners to be present. The officers and the employes of the Commission will consist of a president and a vice-president, who hold their respective offices one year; a secretary, an auditor, chief-engineer, assistanting committees, as follows: On Finance and Audit; on Pians, Contracts and Bonds; on Bids and Proposals; on Work and Construction, and on Appointments of Employes. The salaries of the officers will be fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Proposals; of Work and Constitutions of the officers will be fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

At the last meeting of the Commission, Mr. Thompson was requested to prepare a series of estimates on the cost of building a flume, to measure four feet by four feet, by means of which this city could be supplied with thirty millions of gailons of water a day from Croton Lake. The flume was to follow the line of the old aqueduct. It was to be used simply as a means to turnish New-York with water while the new aqueduct was in process of construction. Yesterday Mr. Thompson submitted the result of his inquiries to the Commission in the form of a number of estimates supplemented by a number of maps. The Commissioner in presenting the estimates said that he had found that it would be almost impossible to build the flume described, as the undulations of the country between Croton Lake and this city, together with the masses of rock which would have to be pierced, would interfere with the grade so greatly that the flume could not be made sufficiently strong to withstand the weight of the water. "Then," be added, "the aqueduct properly does not all lie on the surface of the ground, buttin many places it consists simply of the right of way beneath farms and gardens, whose owners would seek heavy damages should their land be invaded. The cost in buying rights would be enormous. Again, the square flume water, and it would not stand the pressure. The only practicable flume would be a tubular one, heavily bound and braced with iron." A flume to extend the thirty-three miles be, ween Croton Lake and this city, similar to the one upon which he had been desired to furnish estimates, Mr. Thompson said, would cost $4.26 a foot, or $442,000 for its construction. Then it would only furnish a daily total of 15,000,000 gallons. In order to bring the requisite amount of water to the city a flume with an interior measurement of twenty square feet would be necessary.

"The only flume that would be of weath of the city a flum requisite amount of water to the city a flume with an interior measurement of twenty square feet would be necessary.

"The only flume that would be of use," Mr. Thompson continued, "would necessarily be constructed at a considerable elevation above the aqueduct. As the water-way now is, it is taxed to its uttermost, and investigation has shown that in several places the tunnel has been depressed fully eighteen incues by the weight of the water. The sinking at one point naturally weakensit at several otters, and were an additional weight to be placed on the masonry the results would be diaastrous. The elevated flume could be built high enough to make the grade very gradual and the flow of the water regular; but the cost would be very great. At a height of fifty feet—a very necessary elevation, if the grade is to be regarded—it would cost $2,153,000, and would take from one and a half to two years to build. At an elevation of fifteen feet the time for building would not be muce less, and it would require an expenditure of $1,795,000. The flume could be made very strong, with straps and braces of iron, and would resist a pressure of thirty pounds to to the square inch. In addition to the cost for the construction of the flume, $400,000 would have to be experied for pumping machinery. It would, therefore, be hardly a profitable venture for the public." The maps which Mr. Thompson presented were of the rouse of the proposed aqueduct, and diagrams of various sections of the proposed flume.

Commissioner Lane suggested that it would be well to appoint a chief-engineer as soon as possible, and he moved that Benjamin S. Church, the chief-engineer of the Department of Puolic Works, be chosen. Mr. Church was familiar with the ground, and was intimate with the requirements of the aqueduct by reason of his twenty-six years of experience with the Croton Aqueduct. It was very necessary to have an engineer who would loss no time in becoming acquainted with the conformation of the country and was prepared to go instantly to wor

Mr. Thompson said that Mr. Lane's motion was a Mr. Thompson said that Mr. Lane's motion was a complete surprise to him, but that he would support Mr. Church's appointment in good conscience. Mr. Church was present at the early part of the meeting, but when Mr. Lane mentioned his uame he left the room. When he returned he found that he had been chosen chief engineer.

Commissioner Dowd said that it would be advisable to have a public presentation of the plans of the Commission as soon as possible, that the work might not be delayed a day longer than was absolutely necessary. Mayor Edson said that it would be better to have maps and olans for public inspection before any such decisive step as Mr. Dowd had suggested should by taken.

won before any such decisive step as Mr. Dowd had suggested should by taken.

Mr. Thompson introduced Chief-Engineer Isaac Newion of the Croton Aqueduct to the Commission. He was asked how soon be could prepare the required maps, and he answered that as it was a work of considerable detail he could not limit the necessary time. He said that he would have "key" maps traced and would simplify them as much as possible. The rooms of the Commission will be open to the public next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, whea the plans of the aqueduct will be discussed.

The Commissioners present yesterday were Mayor Edson, Controller Grant, Hubert O. Thompson, Mr. Dowd and Mr. Lane.

TAX-RIDDEN CUBA.

A TALK WITH GENERAL BADEAU-BANKRUPTCY IMPENDING UNLESS & CHANGE COM S. Consul-General Adam Badeau arrived from Havana on Tuesday and spent yesterday at the Brevoort House. A TRIBUNE reporter found him there busily engaged to packing his luggage on the we of departure to spend a few weeks in the coun-eve of departure to spend a few weeks in the country.

"You want to know what I can tell you of the condition of Cuba f" said he. "Well, I can describe it to you in a very few words. Cuba is rashing as fast as possible toward bankruptcy. All the trouble binges of the one factinancial distress. I did not hear any rumors of a revolutionary character myself and do not think any one on the island has, either. There is no disposition on the part of the Cubans to plunge into an insurrection, but every one feels that some thing must be done and that right soon, to releve the strain."

"What causes the financial distress you reter to?"

"Imports and taxation. The planters have to pay twenty-five per cent for taxes at first start and the imports are abnormally verations and severe. Why, the taxes of one sort or another for the last anancial year exceeded the income of the islam!"

What about the expedition which the Cubans "What about the expedition which the Cubans in this country are said to be organizing?"

"I know nothing about it, I have seen General,—what is the name?—Bonachea's proclamation, but it does not amount to anything. No one in Cuba knows anything about him, and I guess it is all bluster. There has been much mischief done by bandits, but I am sure their acts are in no way to be attributed to political reasons. There is no national feeling against Spain. The people simply complain of the enormous burden laid on them. There is scarcely a planter on the island solvent, and you can imagine the state of destination to which the lower classes of whites, the n-grees and the Chinesegar-freduced when a large planter on and the Chinesegar-freduced when a large planter on whose estate they live fails. Some change must be made and that within a year or two, or bankruptcy

"What is the feeling displayed toward annexation to the United States Government?"
"There is none. They do not trouble their heads about it. They feel we do not want them, and they do not want us."

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.

Captain John H. McCarthy, of the steam-tug Mary N. Hogan, was arrested yesterday on a charge of perjury. The tug was setzed several weeks ago by the United States authorities on the complaint of E. D. Bussett, the Haytian Consul, who charged that the tug was to be fitted out for the purpose of author the buryents in Hayti. Mr. Bassett recently made an affidavit in which he charged that Captain McCarthy had committed perjury in swearing to two of the statements made in his application for the registry of the tug. The captain declared that he was the true and sole owner of the vessel and that no subject of a foreign Government had any direct or indirect interest in it. These statements are said to be false. Commissioner Shields issued a warrant on the complaint of Mr. Bassett, and Captain McCarthy was taken before the Commissioner yesterday. He was held in $3,000 bail to await examination.

McDERMOTT'S BROTHER THREATENED. McDermott's Brother threatened, the excitement among Irish residents of Brooklyn over the alleged official statements of what is called the treachery of James McDermott, has led to efforts to induce Henry McDermott, James McDermott's brother, an employe in the Brooklyn Board of City Works, to make an affidavit to the charges made against his brother. The demand has been accompanied by threats, and yesterday Mr. McDermott sought police protection. He said that he knew little of his brother's acts, and when he asked his brother about the accusations against him, he said that they were all a pack of lies not worth denying. Acting Police Superintendent Jewett told Mr. McDermott to attend to his busi-ness as usual and he would be protected.

DISTURBED BY AN APPABITION.

A GHOSTLY FIGURE IN AN EMPTY HOUSE HANGING BY THE NECK AND WAVING A HAND-ONE THEORY OF THE PHENOMENON.

ONE THEORY OF THE PHENOMENON.

The police have been interested for several days in a ghost story which has caused considerable excitement among persons living on the north side of Thirty-first-st., directly east of Ninth-ave. Early on Saturday morning the serveant on duty in the Thirty-seventh Street Police Station made the tollowing report for the benefit of his superior officers:

At 12:30 a.m. Patrolman John Buckley reported a suspicious circumstance in connection with the unfurnished and vacant house No. 374 West Thirty-second-st. He was sent with Officer Robinson to investigate the matter. They returned at 1:45 a.m. and reported that they were unable to gain admission to the house.

Patrolman Buckley is a temperate and cautious policeman, yet the report which he had made to the sergeant was looked upon with suspicion until another man had been sent to verity it. Buckley said that he had been called into a house in Thirty-first-st. and requested to look, with the aid of an operaglass, at the half-closed shutters of a rear window of the vacant house in Thirty-second-st. He noticed at first only a peculiar ghostlike light which seemed to pervade the room on the second story of the deserted house. Then he made out what appeared to be a shadowy human form hanging within the room. It was the figure of a man with long, flowing beard, and it appeared to be suspended by the neck. The noose was either a sheet or a large white handkeronief, of which a small part only appeared below the toos of the windows. Persons who had called the policeman's attention to the strange spectacle, said they had noticed the light on several night's previous, and their curiosity had been excited because they supposed that the house was vacant The opera-glass had brought into view the ghostly tigure, and it seemed to them at times that the figure raised a hand and beckoned to them as they were watching it.

The room on the second floor, where the figure was observed at night from Thirty-first-st, was empty. There was nothing about the window or the shutter which furnished an explanation of the spectre. Since his visit to the house, however, the policeman has tried an experiment which has convinced him and several other persons that the phantom is the result of a redection of light from the window of some house in Thirty-first-st. The experiment consists in observing the figure carefully from different windows of the house whose occupants first made the discovery, when it is noticed that the figure appears to change its place from one window of the vacant house to another as the observer moves in the Thirty-first-st, house.

BELLEVUE NURSES WITH TYPHOID FEVER. BELLEVUE NURSES WITH TYPHOID FEVER.

A report has lately been current to the effect that several surses in the Bellevus Training School for Nurses having contracted severe cases of typhoid fever while in the establishment, the Board of Health had ordered an investigation. A TRIBUNE reporter called at the training school vesterday and told him that two of the nurses were suffering from the lever and referred him for further information to Dr. Pardee, of Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Pardee was accordingly seen and said: "I think I can explain how the report arose, but if its based on a mesunderstanding. Two of the nurses in the school contracted the disease while performing their duties outside the hospital. In on-case the disease was due to the presence of an overflowing sewer close to the house in which the nurse had been attending a patient; in the other the fever came from direct contact with a peculiarly viruient case, and is peculiar for that reason, as typhoid is seldom caught by insection and is not classed as a contagious disease. Bestdes this we have a case at present in one of our wards in the hospital. The patient had been here for four months before he caught it, and been here for four months before he caught it, and as there was no case in the same ward, and the nearest typhoid patient was in the ward alove, we requested the Board of Health to send an inspector to investigate the drains connected with the ward. To all appearances, they are in perfect order, and I imagine the cause of the rather peculiar case must be sought elsewhere. That's all there is about it. The inspector has not yet been round, but I do not doubt that he will report the drainage as being in good order."

OPPOSED TO ENCROACHMENTS.

OPPOSED TO ENCROACHMENTS.

The Dock Commissioners on March 3 passed a resolution permitting the Forty-second-st. Ferry Company to remove the old ferry-house and structure at Forty-second-st, North River, and to rebuild. On June 13 the resolution was modified to permit the company to occupy the entire which of the street for a ferry, and to extend the ferry-rack 275 feet beyond the permanent bulkhead line. At the meeting of the Commissioners y-sterilay the Metropolitan Gas-Light Company filed a protest, and gave several reasons why the company should be enjoined from making the improvements. It is contended that the Board exceeded its legal power as the grant affects the pian approved by the Board and the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, under the laws of 1871, for improving the water-front, and that it had no right to permit the ersection of a supers ructure outside of these limits. The gas-light company also contends that the grant is an injustice to itself, as it is the owner of the water-front from the middle of Forty-first-st, to the middle of Forty-second-st., which is purchased from Charles E. Appleby for $125,000, and upon which it has since expended large sams. The upon which it has since expended large sums. The gas-light company also assumes that it is not called for by any public necessity. The matter was laid over for consideration at the next meeting.

CHARGE AGAINST A SCHOOL PRINCIPAL. CHARGE AGAINST A SCHOOL PRINCIPAL.

In Middle Village, town of Newtown, L. L., an action to recover $10,000 has been brought by Jacob Sutter, a marbie-cutter, against Ludwig Haidt, who for several years has been the principal of the German Lutheran school and a teacher in the Su day-school. The particulars of the case as shown by the affidavits are as todows; Miss Louisa Sutter, age seventeen, the daughter of Jacob Sutter, was also a teacher in the Sunday-school. On December 17 1882, Haidt personaled Louisa to meet him at age seventeen, the auditary school. On December 17, 1882, Haidt personaled Louisa to meet him at the school-house, and seduced her. Louisa, in the name of the Overseer of the Poor of the town of Newtown, brought proceedings against Haidt on July 20, on a charge of bastardy. Haidt was arrested, and gave ball to appear for examination. I wo hearings were neld, and the case was adjourned in order to have the attendance of Miss Sutter, who on July 8 fell from a cherry-tree and brought on premature child-burth, and was confined to her bed. The child died on July 12, and on last Thursday Miss Sutter died. Haidt, who is about fifty-live years of age, has a wife and six children, and an order for his arrest in the suit for damages has been reased. Dr. Lefenstine, who attended Miss Sutter dard, post-morten to be made.

WHO WAS MICHAEL BRADY'S ASSAILANT! A prolonged investigation was held vest-rday before Justice Duffy, at the Essex Market Police A prolonged investigation was held vesterday before Justice Duffy, at the Essex Market Police Court, into the circumstances attending a serious assault on Michael Brady. On August 6, in front of Robert Dolan's drinking shop, at Delancey and Willett sis., his jaw-bone was broken and his skull was fractured. He has since remained unconscious at Believue Hospital, and it is probable that he will die. Charles Maithews, who lives over Dolan's barroom, who was seen in company with Brady a short time previous to the assault, was arrested for the offence, but in the absence of evidence against him Justice Duffy released him on his own recognizance. When it was ascertained, however, that Brady was rapidly sinking, Justice Duffy ordered that the case should be thoroughly investigated. Several witnesses testified that they saw Brady pushed in front of the inquor store, and that he feil down and struck his head against the curb-stone. No one could identify his assailant. The father of Brady entreated Justice Duffy to pursue the inquiry, however, as he was informed that Matthews had told a young woman tha the could disclose the name of the man. He stated also that Dolan was of cruel and brutal instincts. He believed him to be the guity person. Justice Duffy decided to commit both Matthews and Dolan without bail.

Daniel Green, of Nc. 157 Court-st., a nquor seller, testified that Chapman a-ked him to intercede with Commissioner Lauer in his behalf, as he could get the vote of Commissioner Jourdan. He afterward offered Green $200, one haif for Commissioner Lauer and the other half for himself. After the money was refused, Chapman said that he meant it for Commissioner Evans. Chapman in his evidence admitted putting $200 on the counter in front of Green, but denied saying appthing about Commissioner Evans. He said that he was drunk at the time. The Commissioners unanimously refused to grant the license.

POUMANIAN DUTIES NOT AVOIDABLE.

It was suggested recently that American petrole-um, destined for the Roumanian markets, could avoid the tariff of the latter country by being re-shipped from an intermediate European port. This is denied by New-York exporters, who say that the Roumanian tariff is promibility, and applies to all imports, from whatever country they may come. In consequence no petroleum is shipped from this country to Koumania, the consumption there sein

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND AFFORTHONMENT—FEES UNLAWFULLY RETAINED.

The Board of Estimate and Appointment held a meeting in the Mayor's Office yesterday. A number of petitions were read, and promptly tabled. One of them from a policeman named Holman asked to be paid some money which be thought was due him from the city, offering in lieu of payment to accept, "some good position, with easy work." The Board passed a stries of resolutions, authorizing the Controller to issue bonds to the amount of $116.666 66, bearing not more than four per cent, interest, to be called the "New-York Bridge Bonda." The loan is for the purpose of raising the sum for which this city is responsible on account of the construction of the East River Bridge. An additional appropriation of $1,928 22 was ordered to be expended ov the Department of Parks in improving the Central Park transverseroads at Sixty-fifth-st, and Eighty-sixth-st. An additional appropriation of $10,000 was asked to comolete the bridge which will cross the Harlem River at Madison-ave.; $200,000 having already been appropriated to this, and the Board thought it better to postpone a decision on the question of a further appropriation till the next meeting. The bridge will be completed, in all probability, next February. The members of the Board then distributed $31,288 01, among the charitable institutions designated by law, for the support during June of children committed by Police Justices.

For a number of years there have been two inspectors of weights and measures and two sealers in this city who have been paid for their work by being permitted to retain the fees which they collected while discharging their duties. THE ATTACK ON D. C. BIRDSALL.

D. C. Bird-all, whose recent statements concerning Mr. Filden's real attitude in the Hancock campaign of 1880 have caused some controversy, has made public a letter in reply to the attack made on his char eter in the effort to break the force of his charges. He shows that the affidavits unfavorable to him which have been published were carefully picked out from the papers used nineteen years ago in the well-known case of William Winter, and still on file in the office of the clerk of the Supreme Court in this city. These unfavorable affidavits were used in an attempt to secure his removal from the position of trustee for William Winter. In the same office there is on file a much larger number of affidavits used in the same case, sworn to by men of far higher standing and better reputation than these who went on record against Mr. Birdsall, These are all favorable to him but no hint of these was given in the poulished attack. Mr. Birdsall was sustained by the courts in the Winter litigation.

DYING ON HIS WAY TO A HOSPITAL.

An old man apparently sixty years of age was found on the sidewalk at West and Jay sts, yesterday about noon by an officer of the Leonard Sirect Police Station suffering from a scalp wound as if from a fall. The officer started for the Chambers Street Hospital win him and when at Greenwichst, left him to get an ambulance from the hospital. As none were on nand he brought the man 'n on a truck, but the stranger died just as he entered the doorway. He was about five feet eight inches in height, with gray hur and a light imperial. He wore a cardigan jacket, no waistenat, a striped shirt, dark trousers, low shees and a dark hat. He had in his possession some articles used by shoemakers, besides a pice and a snufbox. House Surgeon Raymond thought it probable that the man was attacked with heart disease when he fell. Notice was sent to the Coroner, who gave a permit for the removal of the body to the Morgue, where it will be taken to-day. Detectives Fogarty and Hanley, of the Fifth Precinct, were instructed to investigate the particulars of his death.

THE BRIDGE RAILWAY MACHINERY. THE BRIDGE RAILWAY MACHINERY.

Nearly all day long yesterday the endless wire cable on the Bridge railway was rattled over the wheels, and knots of curious spectators gathered at convenient points to watch its undulating motion, or to study the evolutions of the big wheels at the New-York end. Master-of-Transportation Hoagiand said that the Bridge workmen were engaged in making perfect the auxiliary rope on the New-York end which was spiced on Monday, and he expected to make a trial trip of the cars to-day at about 11 a. in., if everything could be made rendy in time. The wire rope will be tested daily to "get the engine down to a working basis," that is to make all parts work smoothly and to discover any defects or any parts that are liable to get heated. When all is completed at the New-York end the cars will be put on to get the grips and brakes "imbered up," and to accuston the brakesmen to their use.
